

| | |
|---|--|
| Have you ever dealt with business partners or clients from abroad? From where? | When you visit another country, what is the first thing you try and learn about? |
| What do you think it means to be 'culturally aware'? Would you describe yourself as culturally aware? | If you had to give a business partner a tour of your town or city, what would you show them? |
| Do you think your country is losing its culture in any way? How? | Is it a good idea to socialise with business partners? Why or why not? |
| Have you ever travelled abroad on business yourself? | Can you recall any 'cultural misunderstandings' you have experienced when dealing with people from abroad? |
| If you had to describe your country's culture to a partner from abroad, how would you do it? | If somebody was planning a business trip to your country, what advice would you give them about dealing with the people? |
| Would the world be a better place if we all had the same culture? | Would you describe your company as 'international'? Why or why not? |